Rowland Hall-St. Mark's School

*843 Lincoln Street
Salt Lake City, Utah 84102*

Dedication

Perhaps the most important date in the history of Rowland Hall-Saint Mark's School is August 31, 1958. At that time Saint Mark's was an all boys school and was in need of a new English teacher. This man taught at Saint Mark's until the spring of 1969 when he became the Academic Dean at Jacksonville Episcopal High School in Florida; however, in 1978, the over-six-foot-tall man could once again be spotted in the halls of Rowland Hall-Saint Mark's School. He not only teaches English, but also has been a yearbook advisor, literary magazine advisor, debate coach, Chairman of the English Department, Assistant Headmaster, Head of the Upper School at Rowland Hall-Saint Mark's School, and director of school musicals and plays. In addition to these accomplishments, this man is also responsible for the ability of every student beyond the age of fifteen to finish the quote: "Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow" Many of the Lower School students know him as "the Grinch," his bank knows him as Emmet, and he calls himself the curmudgeon. We would like to dedicate the 1990-1991 yearbook to Tony Larimer.

In the process of finding an Interim Head for the 1990-91 school year, Rowland Hall- St. Mark's School was fortunate to find Alexander A. Uhle. The luck continued when Mr. Uhle agreed to serve as permanent Headmaster for at least an additional four years. The Search Committee, faculty, staff, and students agree that his experience in independent school organizations on local, state, and national levels will provide strong leadership in our growing and changing school community. Sally Uhle has contributed her talent and time to RHSM as well. Together, the Uhles have become an important part of our school. It is as if they have always been here. Their strong leadership of today leads to a promising and exciting tomorrow.

New headmaster, Alexander Uhle.

This year, the Peer Counselors focused on supporting their peers and raising self-esteem. By educating themselves, they could share that knowledge with their peers to help them make responsible decisions concerning drugs, alcohol, sex and so on. The Peer Counselors put into effect an award titled "Person of the Fortnight." This was awarded every two weeks to the person, nominated by faculty and fellow students, who was especially helpful or supportive. The Peer Counselors also served as role models to the middle schoolers and met with them both formally and informally throughout the year. This year's Peer Counselors were Ava Amiri, Chris Mark, Amanda Maw, Mark Kulmer, Jim Crockett, Katie Beck, Stephen Spurgeon, Sydney Brown, Stefan Folias, and Melinda Montgomery.

This year there were two separate biology trips to Canyonlands in Southern Utah. The first trip left on September 19 and the second on October 10. Both were exciting learning experiences. The students engaged in many activities such as hiking, river rafting, cooking, and note-taking. The guides were very knowledgeable and more than happy to discuss issues and answer questions about the surrounding environment. The students learned much about the different life zones in Southern Utah. Overall, it was a great experience as well as a good time.

International Club members concerned themselves with global pursuits this year by learning about other cultures. One of the activities the club had this year was a hike to Secret Lake. This hike gave the foreign students an opportunity to see parts of Utah that they might otherwise have missed. Of course, no year in the International Club would have been complete without the traditional Thanksgiving dinner at the Amiris'. With all of the food, the turkey wasn't the only thing that was stuffed. Members not only learned about other cultures, but also made new friends, amis, amigos, tomodachi, freunde.

This year's Art Club was a place to let your hair down and get messy. The Art Club met once or twice a month for activities such as making jewelry, designing T-shirts, and touring art exhibits. The Art Club also made tablecloths for the school's auction at the beginning of the year. This year's officers were Michelle Cordray, president; Peggy Warner, vice-president; Lindsey Oswald, secretary; and Menasheh Fogel, treasurer.

The innovative reporters on this year's Gazette staff addressed critical issues within our society. The staff, led by advisor Liz Paige, editor-in-chief Chris Nixon, and assistant editors Amy Anderson and Libby Mitchell, put in long hours in the preparation of the paper, sometimes staying weekends and late nights. A joke circulated through the staff that eventually the shed in the back of the school was going to be renovated for the editors to stay in during layout.

The Music Department, led by Rick McClure, underwent many changes this year. Rowtown involved both the Middle School and the Upper School. For the first time, more jazz songs were also featured. This year was also the first year that chorus was offered as a year-long course. The choir performed at Candle and Carol as well as outside the school. The band performed at school during the half-time festivities of the basketball games. All three musical groups performed at the spring music concert.

"Don't worry, Mr. Larimer, it'll be great!" And of course it was. The more than seventy students involved in this year's musical, Seven Brides for Seven Brothers, sang, danced, moved scenery, played an instrument, and sold tickets as if they'd been doing it all their lives. The large crowds at the four performances loved every joyful moment of the musical that opened this year's season of the performing arts. The cast, the various crews, the orchestra, along with the faculty directors, Ms. Kingston, Ms. Paige, Mr. McClure, and Mr. Larimer, worked long hours to present what was a great hit!

Close family? Yes, very close!

What talent!

Candle And Carol

This year Candle and Carol was held for the 110th time in the history of Rowland Hall-Saint Mark's School. Seven students read passages from the Bible, Katrina Driscoll and Katsura Mizumoto played a flute and piano duet, the chorus and bell choir performed, and the congregation sang carols. The 1990 Candle and Carol was one of the most beautiful services ever.

Other local projects such as recycling programs and community awareness were also very important to the club and should be expanded next year. Officers of the club were Rebecca Moyle, president; Michelle Cordray, vice-president; Jane Barrett and Katie Beck, secretaries; Anuja Joshi, treasurer; and Suzanne Palmer, public relations director.

This year the Middle School went on a retreat to Mesa Verde and the surrounding areas. They were gone for four days during which time they went on tours and hikes and learned more about the Navajo Indian culture. Each of the students stayed with a Navajo host family, some of whom were traditional and some of whom were modern. The Peer Counselors accompanied the Middle Schoolers on their trip, enabling them to get better acquainted with each other and with the teachers. This project will continue throughout the year to help the students learn much about the Navajo Indians and their customs and beliefs.

Dance Company

This year's Dance Company consisted of fourteen students from the high school. Their focus was on technique and the development of creative skills. The company experimented with many different forms of choreography, such as chance scores and improvisation, and also performed at other schools as well as Rowland Hall — St. Mark's. Under the direction of Mrs. Joan Kingston, the 1990-1991 Dance Company was one of the school's best ever!

Last year, Mosaic was among twenty literary magazines in the country to receive the Highest Award from the National Council of teachers of English. This was the second time Mosaic received the honor. This year with the wonderful contributions of art and literature from Upper and Middle School students and faculty, and with the guidance of faculty advisor Carol Krane, the Mosaic was another success. This year's staff included Molly Billings (Fiction), Dylan Brunjes (Publicity), Jessica Carroll (Assistant Copy Editor), Michelle Cordray (Art Editor), Stephanie Dahl (Assistant Copy Editor), Adam Haigh (Non-Fiction Editor), Jennifer Hightower (Poetry Editor), Anuja Joshi (Poetry), Nayer Khazeni (Fiction Editor), Andy Kralios (Fiction), Hillary Rogers (Editor), Nathan Straight (Copy Editor), Heather Ure (Senior Advisor), and Ute Volz (Layout).

~~INTERMISSION~~ HALF-TIME

~~INTERMISSION~~ INTERMISSION

The 1990-91 Rowmark Ski Academy strived to be the best ski team in the Intermountain West this season. Daily training both in the weight room and on the slopes helped Rowmark to another successful season. The coaching of Olle Larsson, Marjan Cernigoj, Matt Brown, and Alex VonWichman allowed for the best of training situations. The group of athletes from all over the nation, France, and Japan formed a tight-knit, productive group, which had many Junior Olympic caliber performances throughout the year.

How much longer?

The girls' tennis team made themselves known at the State Championships this year. The team placed third, missing second place by only one point. Peggy Warner placed first in the singles' division and Kristen Wenger and Suzanne Palmer placed first in the doubles' division. Congratulations to Lisa Halverson, this year's new tennis coach, for an awesome first season. The members of the 1990-1991 girls' tennis team included Laura Chummers, Valerie Floyd, Cari Johnson, Nayer Khazeni, Adrienne McConnell, Suzanne Palmer, Hadley Rampton, Emily Sandack, Peggy Warner, and Kristen Wenger.

Hit me with your best shot.

AWESOME!!

Oh! Aren't they frabjous!

Got it! Got it! No, you get it.

Baseball

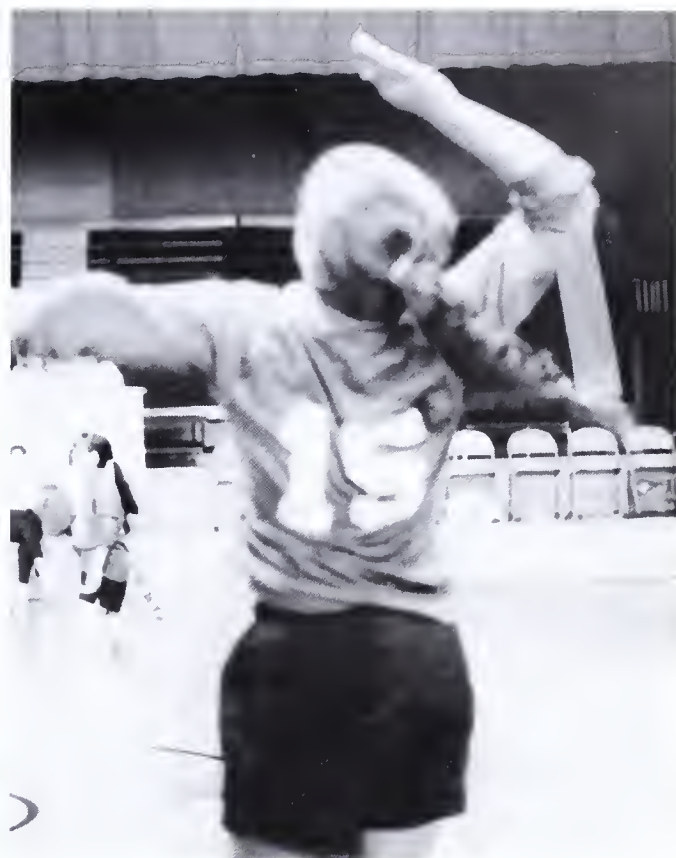

The RHSV varsity baseball team ended the year with a 12-2 record-their best season ever. "We had a good group of kids this year, and they played hard," said Coach Danny Shwam. Taking the State Championship was a major goal, but they will have to wait until next year. The addition of Willie Ambos, a pitcher for the Salt Lake Trappers, to the coaching staff will give the team greater flexibility. Jesse Lowe, Dan Conner, Clay Crosland, Price Ellington, and Jonathan Holman pitched for this year's team. Other team members included Elliot Anderson, Ari Benowitz, John Bloomberg, Brian Conner, John Coulter, Jim Crockett, Wes Davie, Andrew Gelman, Adam Haigh, Steve Hamsen, Jonathan Judge, Masanori Koyama, Tom Kuhnel, Eric Langheinrich, Jonathan Lee, Peter Loebbecke, Chris Mark, Marc Mathis, Brian Nakai, Brady Rasmussen, Ryland Sumner, Chris Swindle, Adam Walker, and Edmund Wrenn.

Volleyball

The 1990-1991 volleyball team's determination and hard work took them to the State Championship for the first time in RHSM volleyball history. The varsity team was coached by the dedicated and tenacious Laurie Carpenter. The junior varsity team was coached by Lori Pew, an important influence on the team. Together the coaches and the players acquired the confidence and persistence needed to make it an incredible season. This year's varsity team captains were Jessica Lux and Kandyce Easton; Jeni Nakao and Anne Leppert were the junior varsity team captains. Other team members included Elizabeth Barrett, Audrey Beck, Molly Billings, Aspin Bowers, Sydney Brown, Jessica Carroll, Beth Davis, Kathleen Easton, Ellen Erlingsson, Anne Ferguson, Mari Hoidal, Courtney Jacobs, Janell James, Anuja Joshi, Sally Mason, Gretchen Mathis, Amanda Maw, Angie Migliaccio, Melinda Montgomery, Jeanna Nixon, Lindsey Oswald, Wendy Stansbury-James, Michelle Wade, Jenny Williams, Ute Volz.

Boys' Basketball

The Rowland Hall-Saint Mark's boys' basketball team had another incredible season. On January 8, 1991, the Salt Lake Tribune and the Deseret News ranked the team 4th in its division. Thanks to coaches Danny Shwam and Willy Ambos, and team captains Jim Crockett, Price Ellington, and Scott Nuismer for varsity, and Pete Paulos for junior varsity, the team was the finest ever, deserving to be ranked for the first time.

Girls' Basketball

Once again the girls' basketball team had an outstanding season. As of January, the team was ranked first in its division. The team captains for the team were Kandyce Easton, Jessica Lux, and Gretchen Mathis. Laurie Carpenter coached varsity and Bob Lux coached junior varsity.

Ski Team

This year is the fourth year that Barbie Patterson-Kallerud has coached the Rowland Hall-Saint Mark's Ski Team. The ski team is made up of eleven students from grades 5-9 who race against other resort teams. the team has races January through April; the ultimate goal of each of the racers is to qualify to race in the Intermountain Championship. With the help of Kip McRae and Eric Koski, the skiers learn how to compete on the slopes while keeping up with their academics.

Once again, students had the opportunity to participate in Winter Sports on Friday afternoons during January and February. Students could either go downhill skiing, crosscountry skiing, snowboarding, horseback riding, ice skating, bowling, play tennis, or do yoga at school. These activities provided students with a shorter day of school work and the chance to take advantage of the available winter activities.
